

"I see the matter in front of me begin to swirl and distort. Then, with a ripping sound, a portal appears on my rug. The portal is a round oval, I can see the soft earth of a forest clearing on the other side, but the picture is distorted, like a forever rippling pool of water. I jump in."

Steven Black is a universe traversing human, living in a far off world among a group of lore keepers known as The Watchers. Having lost his memory years ago, he lives his day to day life traversing worlds through portals, and hanging out with his tree nymph friend Níta Conifer. That is until one day, he is sent on a secret mission where he must track down a potential terrorist threat. If he succeeds, he will receive the Orb of Possibility, a magical object that will grant him one wish. So, Steven heads out on an epic quest where he will discover a hidden cult, ancient artifacts, and the secrets hidden within his own mind.

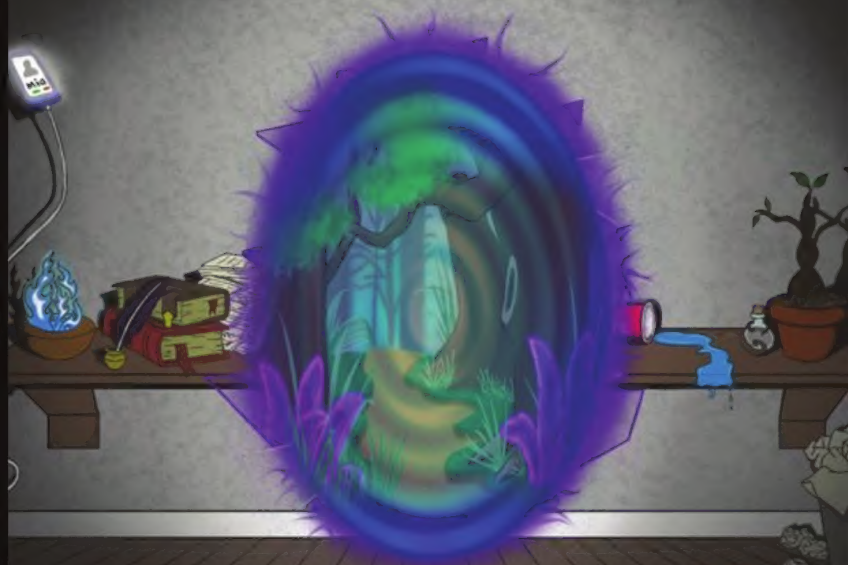

FernByd Books

Barcode - Do
not remove

Steven Black

and
the Tales from Beyond

the Orb of Possibility

J.O.Welch